Elgin Ratepayers Plan Pre-Election Rally

In preparation for the April 14 by-election for Ward 6 Councilor, the Elgin Community and Ratepayers' Association meeting in the Elgin Hall on Tuesday night, planned a monster rally to be held on April 12.

Place of the rally with the Elgin Hall and time is 8 p.m. All candidates for the council seat left vacant when Councillor R. Miller resigned a month ago are expected to be present and address the meeting.

President Norman Grier, Mud Bay Road, was in the chair. Following the meeting elections were held with Percy Oke, Archibald Road in charge. Officers elected were: Norman Hadden, Mud Bay Road, President; Wm. Heath, Rankin Rd., secretary; Ralph Wint Rankin, Mud Bay Road, treasurer. Directors are

Oil Drillers Reach Marine Sediment

Oil drillers and geologists with the Key Gas and Oil Company are well pleased with drilling results. A. R. Reusch, company director, has announced. Marine sediment strata is being encountered where the well is being sunk near Abbotsford airport.

Latest report is that the drill is bringing up materials never before found in the area.

Upon request of geologists to further information is being given out on depths reached. Mr. Reusch said. Last report was 2700 feet.

50,000 Copies Issued—New Phone Directory

The new Fraser Valley telephone directory, which became effective April 2 is the largest yet. Some 50,000 copies have been issued; 16,000 more than last year and nearly double the number issued in 1953.

Eight editions of the directory were produced, seven with different Yellow Pages sections and one a white-only edition, the general edition for the Valley.

Those areas with separate Yellow Pages sections are Abbotsford, Chilliwack, Cloverdale, Haney, Ladner, Langley and Mission.

The directory will bring all new subscribers and number changes up to date. Special note should be taken of the Abbotsford, Haney and Chilliwack listings, as large-scale number changes have taken place there.

Mail Slot Drive Started by Jaycees

A drive to increase the percentage of letter slots and receptacles in the area to be served by the proposed letter carrier system got underway last Saturday. Sponsored by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, the canvass began on Victoria, Columbia and Washington Avenue.

Idea behind the canvass is to assist White Rock residents to get their letter slots installed and speed up the plan to have letter carrier delivery for the town.

Names and addresses of residents desiring to install the receptacles or slots are being obtained by the canvassers who will see that the necessary articles are delivered to the door. Installation services will also be arranged by the local club.

It is planned to cover the whole of the more thickly-populated area as soon as possible.

Bennett's Tax Complaints Rapped

Senator Reid Says B.C. "Treated Fairly" By Ottawa

The Province of British Columbia has little to complain of in the matter of Dominion-Provincial relations and has, in fact, the best financial arrangement with Ottawa of any province in Canada. This was the opinion expressed by Senator T. Reid, addressing the annual meeting of the New Westminster Liberal Association in Cloverdale last Thursday night.

Last year B.C. received $355 millions from the Federal government, Mr. Reid said.

"Despite what Premier Bennett says, the province is better off than any," said Mr. Reid. "If he thinks he can do any better he can go and collect his own taxes."

Other highlights of Senator Reid's address were: Bennett's debt reduction was "just a manipulation of figures—hidden in the P.G.E., toll bridge authority and other crown bodies."

The speaker declared it was his intention to urge the Federal Government to allow mortgage loans as well on older homes. Increased loans for home building were also forecast by the speaker who said the Federal government is instituting a move to assist the municipalities on slum clearance.

Concerning the Columbia River, Senator Reid said if the provincial government had allowed the Kaiser dam project to proceed it would have eliminated development of the river for B.C.

Steelhead Lodge Central Feature Of New Shop

A very realistic log cabin, with a copper legend, "Steelhead Lodge" over the door, is the centre of the decor theme worked out in Washington Avenue's newest shop—the White Rock Sporting Goods. Situated at 15073 Washington Avenue, next to Thrift Realty, the store will be managed by J. Anderson, well-known former hardware merchant of New Westminster.

Officially opened for business on April 3 the new shop will specialize in all kinds of sporting goods, fishing tackle, golf, tennis, badminton and archery necessities as well as outdoor motors and guns for the shooting season.

RESIDED HERE

Mr. Anderson, at one time the owner of the Westminster Hardware on Begbie Street in the Royal City is well-known in White Rock where he has lived for the past 15 years. He has, in fact, known this resort for 27 years and for some time commuted to his work in New Westminster before his retirement three years ago.

Mr. Anderson says his hobbies are fishing—in fact everything connected with marine life. At least 65 per cent of the business done by his former store in the Royal City was marine, he says.

The Andersons, who live on Columbia Avenue, have a daughter, Mrs. G. McCallum, and a son, Irvine Anderson, a dental technician in New Westminster.

"The Sockeye Story" Seen By Rotarians

Senator Tom Reid was the guest speaker at the Tuesday Rotary luncheon. A colour film, "The Sockeye Story," was shown by the speaker to illustrate his talk.

Visitors from Vancouver and New Westminster were welcomed by Vice-President Vic McPherson.

President Martin L. Deacon leaves next week for Toronto on an extended business and holiday trip.

It was reported that 20 Rotarians and Rotary Anns will attend the On-to-Seattle Rotary Convention this weekend.

Ken Thompson New Municipal Solicitor

Succeeding Judge G. W. Bruce Fraser, A. K. (Ken) Thompson, 31, was recently appointed municipal solicitor by Surrey Council. His appointment took effect on April 1. Formerly a member of the Vancouver legal firm, Ellis, Dryer and McTaggart, Mr. Thompson opened his own office in Vancouver in May, 1955. He had maintained a branch office in White Rock since 1951. A 1949 graduate of the University of British Columbia, the new municipal solicitor holds the degree of LL.B. He is unmarried and is a member of the White Rock Rotary Club. Judge Fraser's private practice with office in the Medical-Legal Building, Vidal Street, has also been taken over by the young solicitor.

Among the several displays planned will be one arranged by the Boy Scouts and one by the Civil Defence group.

CONQUERING MUD, deep coulees and heavily-wooded country, these heavy machines are grading the 36-mile route of B.C. First Puppet Show Huge Success

P.T.A. Fair Clears Over $200

A remarkably happy atmosphere was evident at the P.T.A. Family Fair last Thursday. In spite of inclement weather a good turn-out resulted in over $200 for the many P.T.A. projects. The splendid job of decorating, transforming a bare basement into a Spring garden of daffodils and hyacinths, butterflies and bunnies is the work of Mrs. R. Harris and her gifted helpers.

The Dental Clinic cleared $40 by the sale of hot-dogs and apple juice. To this must be added the proceeds of the raffie of the Indian sweater, knit by Mrs. Jean Campbell. As the stubs have not all been collected, the draw has not yet taken place.

FOUR SHOWINGS

The children had a very happy time with the darts and fish pond. Mrs. V. Hillingsley's puppet show "Bertie and the Beasts" proved so popular that four shows were staged instead of the two planned. The clear diction of the tape recording enabled the adults to enjoy the witty dialogue as much as the children did the colour and action.

Mrs. Hillingsley is to be complimented on the living characterization and the distinct personalities she has achieved in modelling her little people.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir:
I would like to take this opportunity to extend to the taxpayers of this municipality, especially of Ward 6, my appreciation for their co-operation and assistance during my term in office. I regret under the circumstances that I found it impossible to carry on the duties of councillor. I wish to thank all those who have written and phoned since I tendered my resignation. I also would be willing to give any assistance or information within my power to my successor.

Yours sincerely,
R. C. MILLER.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir:
I cannot refrain from answering Pay Elliott's letter. Why is the writer so interested in White Rock? And I would like to remind her or him that the taxpayer did not pay for that trip to Victoria. Who paid for the trip of the late Reeve and his party when they went to try and get authorization to pass a by-law to make property owners take care of their boulevards? One of the first jobs Councillor Pittman did was to grade the south shoulder of Buena Vista from F to E St. This being an excellent walk for the school children. The Public Works Dept. have been around three times patching up and piling up the debris there by damming up the water. That water seeps under the paving then we get frost and up she goes. Some of the water seeps to lower levels and now creates a real mosquito breeding place. This being on the old Letourneau market garden. And if Pay Elliott walks around here, he or she will see more contours, and the worst littered up area in the universe. I know two property owners that cleaned up their boulevards after the sewer went in. One of these persons re-dug it and raked it level for grass seed. They have since been along and dumped a bunch of broken glass on it. The other owner has a bunch of stones right across his boulevard, and he says they will stay there. Does this Municipality know there is on the statutes a law against dumping on private property, and the fine is up to $300. I know one ditch that was cleaned out and the cleanings thrown on private property. On every side you can see your tax dollar being wasted.

Who was responsible for the sewer being built on the west side of Merklein? After the sewer was completed on Merklein and a little gravel put down a truck was delivering a small load of lumber, they had to get a bulldozer to pull him out. The sewer bross was not responsible for this unnecessary work, he did a good job.

I was never in the Klondyke where the rope and a gun was the law, but was a witness for the defence on a court martial in France. I have been in the courts in England and Vancouver; also a witness for the Federal Government on a court martial in the U.S.A. But Cloverdale Municipal Court is the only one where the Clerk of the Court wears a gun. And if Pay Elliott likes to come around here I will show where this Municipality wasted several thousand dollars.

P.T.A. Hear

Talk On Africa

At the Wednesday meeting of the local P.T.A. Mrs. Frodsham of Thrift Road, gave a most informative talk on Africa, full of delightful intimate details. Mrs. Frodsham was nominally laboratory technician in a mission hospital in Angola, actually she turned her hand to any of the myriad chores that fall to a skilled worker in a sea of ignorance and superstition. Her training included five months on tropical diseases in London, the study of Portuguese in Lisbon, and a preliminary period in Angola learning Bantu.

While the Portuguese try to minimize the colour bar it exists, the speaker said, Mrs. Frodsham was refused a train ticket at the first class wicket because of her deep tan.

In Angola education is available to the natives but they have not the means to take advantage of it. The cost is $2 a month which includes room and board. Eighty per cent of the children die before reaching two years, even though they are carried on the mother's back, away from the dirt and infection underfoot, and fed on mother's milk.

NEWS FROM ENGLAND

Miss Huff, now on exchange in England, sent an enlightening letter in acknowledgment of the P.T.A. Christmas greetings. She spoke of attending the wonderful Sadler's Wells Ballet for 45c-60c. Covent Garden for no more, and the Old Vic. All this is made possible by state subsidies.

Mrs. J. Shaw reported a successful Chest X-Ray Clinic.

The White Elephant Stall at the Hospital Auxiliary Country Fair on April 14 will be run by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Henderson.

The Children's Parade at the Sea Festival will be directed by Mrs. P. Williamson.

German re-arming, when fully under way, will produce some 500,000 troops for about the same money Canada spends for 120,000.

P.N.E. Hopes For

Advance Ticket Prizes

Possibility of a favourable and early decision on the question of B.C. Fairs conducting advance sales of tickets with drawings for prizes is seen following a visit of a delegation from the Pacific National Exhibition to Ottawa in mid February.

P.N.E. President W. J. Borrie headed the delegation to Ottawa. Public Relations Manager C. M. Deleux of Kerfoot Road, White Rock, was a member of the group.

The P.N.E. tried an advance sale without prizes last year with gross returns dropping to approximately $90,000 compared with $217,000 in 1954.

Fairs consider returns from advance sales as "rain insurance."

As We Remember Vimy

The number of people who remember April 9, 1917, get fewer and fewer every year and no ceremony marks the great Canadian battle of Vimy Ridge. Other and later battles in World War II have tended to obscure the memory of that historic day.

The storm clouds have passed over Vimy many times since the day of the terrific conflict on that ridge, crowned today with a magnificent memorial.

As April 9 draws near once more and we think back over the years that have seen so much of hate and bloodshed since 1917, we should pause in our work-a-day occupations to consider other memorials we might raise. They would be largely invisible, for they would be innumerable heart-felt resolutions that we will build with love and understanding of all races in order to achieve the way of peace.

Only in that way can we hope to make up for the loss of human life suffered by many countries in two dreadful world wars.

And only thus can we hope to avoid a still more dreadful third world war.

The Machinery Equipment Tax

An attempt by the legislature to patch the Machinery Equipment Tax during the last session appears to fall far short of the desired results. It seems a city lawyer has intimated that the courts might again have to settle numerous appeals against this controversial tax.

In view of this fact many right-thinking people are asking the following questions: Why this Machinery Equipment Tax? Why the discrimination? Why tax one group and not another? Why tax a landowner for his tenants' machinery? Why? Why? Why?

It is safe to say that these same people will readily agree this Province all the services demanded these days money has to be found. They will also admit the government has but one means of raising money and that is by taxation.

But why tax one business just because machinery is necessary in its operation and not tax a business which can operate without machinery? There is no equality in that form of taxation.

Many people will wonder why a government, which on the one hand passes a lot of highly commendable legislation, should on the other hand show such total disregard for equality as they do by imposing the machinery equipment tax.

It is thought in some quarters that the Act should be again amended and that legislation should be passed whereby all businesses are taxed on a basis similar to the Income Tax with reasonable exemptions.

Such a tax would at least offer some relief to small businesses and would bring into line many businesses which are now outside the tax field.

Garbage Disposal

In its annual report the Boundary Health Unit very rightly pointed out that the population growth of the area included in the Unit was creating greater demands for garbage collection and disposal.

A great deal more could be written on this subject. For despite such very praiseworthy undertakings as the sanitary fill which is transforming and enlarging Semiahmoo Park, there still is a great need for better systems of collection in some parts of the municipality. Collection of garbage, as everyone should know, is done by municipality authorities under local garbage by-laws. Private collections, however, are encouraged in those districts where no system is in effect.

Disposal of garbage is becoming a more acute problem every year due to the difficulty of locating garbage dump sites, and the consequent long haulage distances. The trend to sanitary fill is therefore being encouraged by the authorities. But it too, brings its own peculiar problems. Such projects in built-up areas, especially, need good supervision and planning to prevent them becoming a real nuisance to householders who live in the vicinity of the fill.

Until such time as a system operated by the local authority is set up it would certainly seem to be the duty of all health and beauty-minded residents to see that our lovely seaside environments are not rendered unsightly and unsanitary by indiscriminate dumping of household refuse.

Water at Pier End Must be Deepened

Mass evacuating people from target cities, needs some thought. Recall Uncle Sam's Pearl Harbour, by the Japs completely caught.

With our Bridges and our Railways gone, what would the position be?

With the only means of transport left, namely that of the sea?

We must plan evacuation, in case a war broke out.

For thousands would be heading here, we surely cannot doubt. Then think of our Pier and Breakwater, yes, take them both together.

They can't handle ships of decent size, even in the best of weather.

We're told our water is too shallow, then let's that hindrance state.

Must we continue doing nothing, until it is too late?

With so many precious lives at stake, this is no time for hedging.

Our Pier's approach can be rectified, that, by means of dredging.

White Rock of course can't handle this, the Governments should act.

Imagine ship loads of human beings, and we have to turn them back.

W. F. MCLENTOCK.

Camping—a recreational interest that is demanding more and more facilities from parks and camp sites.

The Park System That Isn't

By Roderick Haig-Brown.

British Columbians are inclined to feel comfortably satisfied about their parks. We have little reason for self-satisfaction. In the eastern part of the province we have four small national parks, all alpine, all several hundred miles from our main centres of population. Throughout the rest of the province we have a wide scattering of provincial parks, some large, some tiny, most of them undeveloped, all very imperfectly protected under a few casually-drawn sections of the Forest Act.

A provincial park can be created, extended, reduced or cancelled by order-in-council, at the whim of the cabinet of any government that happens to be in power. To call anything so temporary and precarious as this a park system is meaningless; it is no more than a list of temporary reservations designed to quiet the public conscience.

DESTRUCTION RAMPANT

The short ten years of development in the province since the war have been more than enough to show up the flimsy protection of the parks. Tweedsmuir, the largest of them all, has been completely and finally destroyed. Strathcona, within easy reach of main population centres and the only major park on Vancouver Island, has been sacrificed for ten thousand horsepower and a hundred million feet of fine timber.

Wells Gray is threatened with power development, perhaps Garibaldi also; logging goes on along the highway in Manning Park; neither Garibaldi nor Mt. Robson Park could be turned over to the federal system because the province was unwilling to release possible assets within them. Even small parks, like Elk Falls and Stamp Falls on Vancouver Island have been ruthlessly attacked.

In two thousand acres Elk Falls now supports a dam, penstock and powerhouse, several wide powerlines, a large pumping station and a logging road; throughout most of the year only a tiny trickle of water passes the famous fall. There is a limited effort in Wells Gray, but all this falls far short of the ever-increasing public demand. British Columbians have the 40-hour week, they have automobiles, money to travel with and the wish to travel through their own province. They can look forward to still shorter working hours and still better means of travel.

If the public of British Columbia hopes to hold on to a parks system it must insist on access roads and development, even ahead of need. It must insist on proper protective legislation and a proper working budget for its Park Division. It must insist on more parks, large and small—there is now only one 12-acre park along the whole coastline from Vancouver to Prince Rupert.

This has already happened in New York and California and most of the states of the union; it is happening today in Ontario and even, to a limited extent, in B.C.

ABLE PARKS BOARD

The failure in B.C. is in no way the fault of the B.C. Parks Division. This is made up of sincere and able men, but it is understaffed, financially starved and has been largely disregarded by unimaginative governments. It has far too little supporting legislation and no proper representation whatsoever at cabinet level.

With what little it has, the Parks Division is doing a good job. Its efforts to build camp sites and picnic sites and to increase the attractions of small parks have been admirable; there has been good minor development in Manning Park and a limited effort in Wells Gray.

But all this falls far short of the ever-increasing public demand. British Columbians have the 40-hour week, they have automobiles, money to travel with and the wish to travel through their own province. They can look forward to still shorter working hours and still better means of travel.

If the public of British Columbia hopes to hold on to a parks system it must insist on access roads and development, even ahead of need. It must insist on proper protective legislation and a proper working budget for its Park Division. It must insist on more parks, large and small—there is now only one 12-acre park along the whole coastline from Vancouver to Prince Rupert.

On The Bookshelf

"PAGEANT OF B.C." by Bruce McKelvie.

British Columbia has had some very colourful and exciting incidents in her past history which make interesting reading today. Readers the world over are intrigued by the Gold Rush to the Cariboo, and the tales of fur-trade days. Bruce McKelvie, historical writer for the Vancouver "Province," has compiled a collection of stories of early B.C. days which will appeal to many types of readers. These stories were published during 1953-55 in the Vancouver "Province" and are now in book form under the title "Pageant of B.C." They have been arranged in chronological order, but no attempt has been made to produce a formal history. The author was born in British Columbia and, like all native sons, he is proud of the fact. He has been associated with the newspaper profession since the age of 10 when he became a "printer's devil." As a newspaper man he has seen the Province in all its trials and triumphs; he has been interested in its early history and again, as a newspaper man, he has learned to express himself for the general public.

In "Pageant of B.C." he has produced a book which will find many readers. Some of the older people will remember hearing these stories from participants, others will read them for the greater knowledge they will gain of the province and still others for sheer enjoyment.

This and That

BURIED TREASURE

His treasure, deep in earth, he hid.

As pirates did of old,
So no one passing by could guess
Where lay his cache of gold.
Until the spring in mad caprice
His treasure trove laid bare,
Now all his path is glowing gold
With daffodils so fair.
Hilltop. —Germayle.

The father entered the room just as the children were starting a free-for-all.

"See here, Johnny," said the father grabbing one of the youngsters, "Who started this?"
"Well," said Johnny "It's all Freddy's fault, he started it when he hit me back."

The COMMON ROUND

A.J.P.

AUTOMATION and its impact on the Canadian economy of tomorrow is a subject that threatens to steal the spotlight on public platforms today. Just this week I received a copy of a speech made recently in Montreal by John H. Dickey, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Defence Production. And the whole theme of this highly-informative talk is automation which until recently was not a very well understood term.

As Mr. Dickey has pointed out though the term "automation" has not yet found its way into our dictionaries, it has been very much in evidence in Canadian economic development during the last decade and a half. It has been one of the factors contributing to the great progress we have made in the field of atomic energy, electronics, synthetic products and in a host of commodity-producing and service industries, from aircraft and motor cars to railway services and weather forecasting.

COLOURED T.V. APPARATUS is one very interesting example of this kind of production. The production of colour T.V. tubes requires an automation process capable of placing literally hundreds of thousands of separate and individually-coloured dots upon the face of a tube. People who foresee in the development of automation the loss of jobs for vast numbers of people have to realize that no human being could do such a job as this with the precision that automation makes possible.

EDUCATION as other writers and speakers on the subject of automation have insisted, must keep pace with the increased demands for technological preparedness. They are all agreed that the workman of the future must be a much-better educated individual than most have been in the past. And these writers are already beginning to talk about the Age of Automation much as our forefathers talked of the Age of Science.

OPTIMISM for the Canadian future seems to be a characteristic of all educational leaders who are far-sighted enough to plan for that future. They point to advances which have already been made — many of them without creating more than a ripple on the surface of our lives.

Since 1939 and the outbreak of the second world war, Canada's population has increased 38 per cent; her output per capita has gone up 64 per cent; national income per capita, which in 1939 was $388, in 1955 had risen to $1340; income of the average Canadian in 1955 was 70 per cent higher in real terms than in 1939.

BEFORE 1970 COMES ROUND forecasters predict an even greater rise in national income. Providing, they insist, we learn how to make effective use of the latest scientific experience and labour skill as well as our abundant resources, as yet barely touched. And in that development they so confidently predict, it appears that automation will play an increasingly important part.

But, and there is always the but today as in the past, unless we learn by patience and unselfishness to share the wonders of this new system of production with less fortunate nations the way of automation will not be the way of peace.

In concert with other Commonwealth Countries, and the United States, as Mr. Dickey quite rightly has pointed out, we must back such schemes as the Colombo Plan designed to speed up the industrialization of a number of countries in South-east Asia.

Only in that way can we hope to replace
"The hunger for power and
The hunger for glory"
With the benefits of peace and
The benefits of progress."

Little ten year old Lynne Rabb, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid, wore a pink flowered nylon frock with matching flowered bandeau. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

Best man was Thomas Gilmore and ushers were Trevor Charles and Kenneth Rabb, brother of the groom.

At the reception held in the White Rock Hotel the mother of the bride, Mrs. M. L. Coon, helped to receive the guests. She wore a grey figured dress with white accessories, and her corsage was of white carnations. Also assisting, Mrs. H. G. Among the 100 guests were the groom's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bradley and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. M. R. Rabb.

Enjoyable Comedy Is Little Theatre Offering

By Madge Helmer.

The White Rock Players latest comedy production, "To Dorothy, a Son" drew an appreciative audience to the opening on Monday evening.

Geoffrey Theobald as Anthony Rigi, gives an excellent and convincing portrayal of a distraught and struggling young composer, while the difficult role of Myrtle, Anthony's first wife, is played with poise and sophistication by glamorously-costumed Sheila Lane.

The voice of Dorothy (Barbara Weston) heard off-stage at all times, gives the impression of a spoiled, selfish woman and causes sympathy to swing toward the first wife rather than to Dorothy, who finds herself in the unhappy position of not knowing for sure whether her marriage to Anthony is valid or not. Barbara has given so many fine performances in the Little Theatre that the monotony of tone in this particular role is a little disappointing. Supporting roles of the doctor and taxi driver are ably handled by Bob Glen and Cy Amos.

The organized chaos synonymous with creative artists, in the first scenes and the smart decor of the set in the latter part of the play, under Myrtle's influence, create a charming contrast.

Although the vehicle itself presents an almost contrived situation the clever lines and humour evolve beautifully under the skillful direction of Brian Lane.

The utmost praise is due to Cy Amos who, though a veteran actor, makes his debut as stage manager in this production and does a superb job of sound effects and multi-phase lighting. "To Dorothy, a Son" provides an evening of entertaining comedy, spiced with clever lines, a little suspense and a surprise ending.

On the Home Front

By Carey Bell

There are no end of spring fashions, ranging from the quite unusual and different to the classic tailored model. In between, so to speak, is this handsome suit for town, the fabric yarn-dyed worsted in beige or gray, both good suit colours. A buttoned tab takes care of the pretty plaited collar which would be so nice with a soft scarf tucked inside. The jacket is nicely shaped through the torso and the skirt is straight. This model avoids extremes and is so good for the carefully planned wardrobe.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

A real Spring pick-up which can be enjoyed at any meal either as a dessert or a fruit "starter" is the fruit cocktail given me by Mrs. Stephen Ramage of Colbrook. It uses the famous Okanagan apple juice, and most loyal B.C. housewives will agree there is none finer. Combined with grape fruit, now in plentiful supply, it would be a nice extra for either Sunday dinner, or luncheon.

Mrs. Ramage was very active in the work of forming the Branch of the Scottish Country Dance Society in White Rock last year and is a past president of the Vancouver Lady Aberdeen Branch of the Society.

FRUIT COCKTAIL

1 grape fruit. Peel, divide into segments and slip skins from each.
Add sugar to taste. Allow to stand for five or ten minutes in refrigerator. Cover with Okanagan apple juice.
When ready to serve spoon into tall sherbet glasses.
Coulthard Road.

DOES JUNIOR FIT ON ALL EIGHT?

Why bother having baby teeth filled, when they're going to fall out in a year or two? Why spend money having the family car serviced and repaired, when you're going to turn it in on a new one, in a year or two?

Well, don't—in either case—if you're well prepared for trouble! Neglect of baby teeth (better called foundation teeth) may not produce as spectacular results as neglect of the family car, but the overall effect on the family health and welfare, and the family budget, may be almost as disastrous.

While waiting for a new one, the old car will get you there if it's hitting properly on all eight (or six, or four, as the case may be). So will Junior's first teeth carry him through until replacements arrive, if he's hitting effectively on all eight of those big chewing molars of the temporary set. But let them decay, break down, perhaps have to be removed, and Junior's motive power, plus growth and development, may be cut down correspondingly.

Exposed nerves, jagged edges of cavities, and gaps where teeth were lost result in food being bolted—improperly chewed and poorly prepared for use in building healthy bodies. Lack of use of chewing muscles frequently leaves the face pinched and underdeveloped in appearance.

When the jaw closes in, following loss of part or all of one of those teeth, the underlying permanent tooth has to fight its way through—usually comes out of line. That means irregularity—possibly costly adjustments and trouble in later years.

Truly, they're foundation teeth, those large back teeth—two in each corner of the mouth.

When it comes to hitting on all eight, how does Junior rate with the family car?—Advt.

In the Garden

LAWNS NEED SPRING ATTENTION

Grass is a subject that makes its best growth during the cool weather. The seed can be sown at any time now. It is best to do this on a day when there is no wind and to make sure of even coverage it is advisable to broadcast from two directions. Some experts advocate sowing in September, soon enough to give it a chance to make a fair growth before winter sets in. Then when Spring warms up, the young grass will make good growth and get thoroughly established by the time the dry Summer season sets in. Sowing in March is the next best time.

For new lawns the ground should be thoroughly prepared, cultivated several times to level off the surface and to kill the weeds. Repairs are handled in somewhat the same fashion, with the bald spots raked thoroughly to open up the soil. A light raking in two directions is best to cover up the seed. No rolling should be done after the seed is sown until the young grass is about one inch high.

Well-nourished grass and high-quality blended seed from a reliable seed house will usually crowd out most weeds. Grass like any other plant will benefit from a good dressing of finely pulverized, well rotted manure. Sheep manure well mixed with twice its bulk of peat moss or compost, or even more, spread evenly over the lawn and thoroughly raked down to the soil. One of the best dressings to Lawngreen. This will not burn and is free from weeds.

give a lawn when the grass starts to grow is Bluewhale. A patchy lawn may be improved by driving a garden fork into the ground at close intervals, working the fork backwards and forwards to let in air. Do this all over the bad parts, then spread some Lawn-green or other organic plant food and then go over with a broom, brushing the plant food lightly into the holes. If your lawn is mossy, a raking is called for, but the moss may be killed with a good dressing of moss killer, which should be applied when the ground begins to warm up and before rain is expected.

PLANT ASPARAGUS NOW

Early April is the best time to plant Asparagus. Asparagus undoubtedly likes a well-drained, rather light and porous soil. It dislikes clay, and abhors stagnant moisture. It appreciates a saline atmosphere. On deep, sandy loams near the sea it thrives exceedingly well. It may be, and is, well grown inland, but it is not so easy to get a heavy crop on stiff as on light soils. On tenacious, ill-drained land it is almost essential to raise the beds above the surface.

Asparagus may be grown from seed with ease, and the only drawback to the plan is that the plants are not strong enough to cut from under three years, and it is best to allow four. The seed may be sown in April, in a drill one inch deep, and the plants thinned. In the following Spring they may be transplanted to the beds.

It is a good plan to allow two rows to a bed, planting one foot from the edge at each side, and allowing two feet in the centre. This means a bed four feet wide. The stools may be 12 to 18 inches apart in the rows. It is a common and good plan to form a small ridge of soil where the rows are to be, set the stools on it, spread the fibrous roots well out on each side, and cover the crowns four inches deep.

Those who want to cut Asparagus a year after planting must procure three or four year old crowns. These are clumps of growing points and fibrous roots, six inches or more across. If planted in showery weather, in Spring, they will soon be established. They may be procured from nurseries, and those who want to have a bed in bearing very quickly do not always let the cost stand in the way.

A young bed should be cut with restraint. A few of the earliest shoots should be allowed to run up untouched, to encourage root action. Hard cutting, it must be remembered, has a tendency to cripple the root-stocks. No cutting should be practised after the middle of June.

It is a regular practice to mulch asparagus beds in Autumn. Often good follows, but sometimes, I think, harm. Rank manure out of the yard is too wet. If manure is used it should be dry and well decayed, so that it can be crumbled up and mixed with burnt refuse, thus forming an ideal top-dressing. Near the sea quantities of seaweed are often heaped on the beds. Such beds are, however, usually well drained; moreover, the salt in the weed is beneficial.

A Spring dressing of salt should only be applied on light, well-drained land. It does harm, often if not always, in stiff, wet land.

It should be remembered that an Asparagus bed in full bearing is putting a considerable strain on the resources of the soil, therefore weeds should not be tolerated.

ing held during this Easter week in Vancouver.

Reidville Garden Club Elects D. Howard

The annual meeting of Reidville and District Garden Club was held in Reidville Hall on Monday, March 19. Mr. Don Howard was elected president; Mr. Doug Smith, re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Mr. J. Cant programme convener. In his address to the members, the newly-elected president dealt with the trouble arising from plants, shrubs and trees as a result of excessive frost. Sounding an optimistic note, he pointed out that, although the damage was disastrous, time will prove that many plants will recover.

He also mentioned that, in many instances, strawberry plants which appeared dead are now showing signs of life and new growth. As a result he cautioned members to wait until absolutely sure that plants have been killed before removing. In replacing plants the speaker advised purchasing from well-known growers, and pointed out the dangers of selecting growers from different climatic conditions.

Following an interesting question period, refreshment were served.

C.P.R. Wins Public Relations Award

The Federation for Railway Progress has announced that the Canadian Pacific Railroad has been selected as the winner of its Public Relations Award for 1955.

The presentation is "in recognition of the Canadian Pacific's vigorous and most successful public relations campaign in connection with the inauguration of its trans-continental streamliner 'The Canadian'." Polio Vaccine

Offered 9,500 Children

Poliomyelitis vaccine will be offered to 9,500 more children in the area. Boundary Health Unit has reported. It will be the same vaccine as supplied last year. Approximately 10 per cent of the vaccine was received in March. 45 per cent is expected in April, and 45 per cent in May, said Dr. H. K. Kennedy, Health Unit Director.

"The programme this year will include one injection to children in Grades 1, 2 and 3 who received their first injections last year; and two injections for children starting school in September, 1956, and children in Grades 4 to 9," said Dr. Kennedy.

In Boundary Health Unit, the vaccine has already been offered to approximately 5,000 children.

B.C.E. Plans More Power For Lower Mainland

One of the largest substations in Canada will take shape this year in Surrey, south of Kennedy Road and half a mile west of Scott Road, B.C.E. President Dal Grauer has announced.

Initial development will cost $3,100,000 and the big transformers, switch-gear and other equipment will occupy a site 45 acres in extent.

Mr. Grauer said the new station will be named after Tom Ingledow, B.C.E.'s vice-president and executive engineer.

The installation will be the terminal point for the 345,000-volt transmission line now being built between Bridge River and the Lower Mainland.

CABLE TO ISLAND
The station's second function will be to feed and control power being routed to Vancouver Island south by means of the underwater cables. Energy at 230,000 volts will be dispatched from Ingledow to Delta substation, located several miles west in Delta municipality.

The new installation will also supply power to Scott, Surrey, Delta local, and Cloverdale substations, which serve farms and industries in the Lower Fraser Valley.

Mr. Grauer said Ingledow substation has been designed for expansion to twice the initial capacity. This will be carried out as rapidly as the Lower Mainland's population and industry require more electricity.

One of Canada's worst disasters was a four-day Great Lakes storm in 1913 in which 300 seamen drowned.

Municipality Will Insure Firemen

Survey municipal council has approved insurance coverage for volunteer firemen of all departments in the municipality.

Proposal of B. L. Johnson, Walton Co., to provide $10,000 death and dismemberment coverage and $20 weekly indemnity at a premium of $411.89 per annum will be provided immediately, council said.

Coverage is based on the number of pieces of equipment in service and will provide the additional protection required by firemen concerned.

Gas Pipe Line Nears Lower Mainland

Approximately 650 miles or one-sixth of the right-of-way for the Peace River to Vancouver natural gas pipeline have been cleared.

Crews have cut a swath 60 feet wide for more than 100 miles of the route, agents for Westcoast Transmission Company said. The company owns the pipeline.

Seven miles of pipe crossing have been welded over the Veder canal and Silver creek, near Hope, and the Coquihalla river, as well as nine highway and two railway crossings.

More than 500 men are in the field.

THE CHURCH SPEAKS

THE CHURCH SPEAKS: Maybe it does, but does that mean that it has anything of real importance to say to the personality? After all, there are many organizations waiting my ear today.

Yes, out then the Church is not merely an organization. It is an organism—a living body. The Bible declares that the Church is the body of Christ. The words of scripture are: "Christ is the Head of the body, the Church." Therefore, when this body known as the church speaks, it is the Head—even God the Son—Who is really speaking.

Well, that is different! If it is really God Who is speaking then I can do no less than to listen intently to what He has to say to me personally through His church. After all, this is the One Who "loved death for every man." If He loved me enough to give His very life for me I know that everything that He says to me will come from a heart of love. Yes, I will listen as God speaks.

Death Takes

W.R. Nongenerian

Mrs. Sarah Bee, a nongenerian who had resided in the White Rock Rest Home for three years, passed away on March 28. She was 96 years of age.

Born in Nottingham, Derbyshire, England, Mrs. Bee came to Canada in 1910 and settled with her husband in Kerrobert, Saskatchewan. She came from there to live in White Rock following the death of her husband. She is survived by one son, Wilfred, in Seattle.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, April 3, at 1 p.m. from the Chapel Hill Funeral Parlour to Sunnyside Lawn. Rev. E. Pitt Griffiths officiating.

A veteran of the Boer War who served for 13 years with the Imperial Forces, John James Day, passed away on March 31 at the age of 80.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, April 3, at 3 p.m. in Chapel Hill Funeral Parlour for the veteran who also served overseas with the 27th Battalion, Canadian Army, from 1914 to 1919.

Mr. Day came to live in White Rock 10 years ago and made his home with Mrs. L. E. Beard, at 15162 Buena Vista Ave. He had been a member of Canadian Legion, Branch No. 8, since 1932. Rev. E. Born in La Mars, Iowa, Mrs. Dillon resided in Alberta for many years and lived in Red Deer 16 years prior to moving to White Rock in 1946.

Mrs. Dillon was a charter member of White Rock Hospital Auxiliary and a director on the first executive. The Hospital Superintendency Shop on Vidal Street which has become a tradition in the history of the community hospital owes its inception to Mrs. Dillon who had much experience as a convener in a similar project in Red Deer which was operated by mothers of members of the armed forces during World War II.

Mrs. Dillon leaves to mourn her passing, two daughters, Mrs. T. R. Blades of White Rock, Mrs. V. A. McPherson of Victoria; two sons, Petty Officer John Dillon, Halifax, George M. Dillon of Red Deer, and ten grandchildren.

HAHN URGES GOVT. ACTION ON FEED FREIGHT RATES AND POTATOES

Nothing at present can be done about the feed grain freight rates from the prairies to British Columbia, George Hahn, M.P., told a gathering in the White Rock Hotel on Tuesday night.

He was addressing the regular monthly meeting of the local Social Credit League.

"Grain can be shipped from Alberta to Blaine and from Blaine into White Rock, cheaper than it can be sent direct," said Mr. Hahn who has been pushing hard at Ottawa to have the rates lowered. "This is because the domestic rate is three times higher than the export rate. The result is that a farmer in Washington can have grain laid down there cheaper than a farmer can buy it here."

The U.S. farmer can then ship his finished product into B.C. and undersell the local producer, said Mr. Hahn.

Attacking the present potato tariff, the speaker pointed out that B.C. has spuds coming in for 6 weeks in June and July when tariffs are off. As a result the U.S. producers load the Canadian market before that date, he said.

A conference of Canadian producers is being called soon by the Federal government to discuss the problems, said Mr. Hahn. It is hoped that as a result, an overnight announcement of the enforcement of the tariff can be put into effect.

Mr. Hahn is also urging Ottawa to set up "potato zones" in Canada, so that the receipt of potatoes will be on the basis of necessity.
